Byelections to be held June 22

POLITICS Nova Scotia Premier Darrell Dexter has announced a date for two provincial byelections.

Dexter says the votes in Yarmouth and Glace Bay ridings will both be held June 22.

Yarmouth became vacant when Conservative Richard Hurlburt resigned in the wake of the legislature expense account scandal.

Liberal Dave Wilson stepped down in Glace Bay but has not given his reason for doing so.

CanJet cuts more than half of staff

JON TATTRIE

LAYOFFS CanJet is laying off 27 of its 44 staff in Halifax.

Peter Baxter of CUPE said they were set to start contract negotiations next week, but that will be postponed until August because of the layoffs announced Tuesday and effective June 3.

"There were rumours (but) we were quite surprised with regards to the size of the downsizing," Baxter said Thursday.

"We are very disappointed with the approach the company is taking — namely to target some of its most senior and loyal workers," he added.

Airline owner Ken Rowe said the employees are being offered transfers to jobs with the company in Central Canada.

He said more flights are being operated from Central Canada, making the Halifax base less feasible.

"The business we're now conducting, all of our aircraft are pretty well based in cities other than Halifax," Rowe said in an interview.

Baxter said he doubted there would be anything other than charter flights departing Halifax this summer.

Tainted legislature

Long-lasting probe of expense scandal 'would be obscene': Minister

A NDP cabinet minister says a police investigation in the province's expense spending scandal needs to conclude as quickly as possible to help clear the taint surrounding the legislature.

When asked about a lengthy RCMP investigation possibly even approaching the next provincial election campaign in three years, Energy Minister Bill Estabrooks said: "That would be obscene as far as I'm concerned."

Estabrooks said all politicians are tarred with the same brush at the moment.

"Let's get this thing cleared up," he said. "I would hope that the RCMP would move as quickly as possible to look at this issue."

On Tuesday, auditor general Jacques Lapointe turned over files relating to four former legislature members and one current member to the RCMP after uncovering possible illegal acts during a forensic audit of their expenses. Lapointe said the audit was launched because of information forwarded to him from a number of sources after an initial report on expenses was released in February.

That report highlighted a number of questionable purchases by members of all three parties between July 2006 and June 2009. The items ranged from generators and big-screen TVs, to custom-built furniture, to an espresso machine.

Lapointe and police have refused to release the names of those connected to the forensic audit, saying it may hinder the criminal investigation.

Estabrooks said delays in the police investigation would be a concern.

"This (scandal) has stuck with the public and justifiably so," said Estabrooks.

Just how quickly the case will proceed is impossible to predict, said Sgt. Brigit Leger of the RCMP.

Report finds weigh station woes may have compromised highway safety: CBC

PROBE A report from Nova Scotia's ombudsman obtained by CBC News says public safety on the province's highways may have been compromised. The report relates to workplace issues at the weigh station on Highway 104 in Amherst, where in some cases supervisors overruled tickets issued by vehicle compliance officers.

The CBC report cites a number of negative findings by ombudsman Dwight Bishop.

Bishop wrote that the working atmosphere at the weigh station had led to lax behaviour by some employees. He wrote that some were "doing minimal work and not applying risk-management principles, potentially compromising public safety and staff health."

Transportation Minister Bill Estabrooks told the CBC his department has received the report and he's aware of the issues.

The CBC reports that during the investigation, safety officers made some startling admissions.

They admitted to picking new trucks with no inspection issues because they were quick and easy to deal with. They admitted to letting trucks with possible safety infractions go by.

The ombudsman found four cases where violation tickets were arbitrarily voided by managers.

Fells avoids termination but won't return to school

Next assignment up in air for ex-principal after board ruling

JENNIFER TAPLIN
jennifer.taplin@metronews.ca

Victory for Ken Fells and his supporters is bittersweet.

The former principal is not fired, but he will not be returning to work at Graham Creighton Junior High School in Cherry Brook.

The Halifax Regional School Board released the decision at 2 a.m. on Thursday after many hours of hearing evidence.

While the school board is mum on the incident that led to this possible termination, Brad Barton with the Black Educators Association of Nova Scotia said they have received accounts of what happened by students who were there.

Back in March, teachers

"I think everybody thinks it's a victory ... Unfortunately, they didn't follow through with the next step that (Ken Fells) be reinstated as principal of Graham Creighton Junior High."

Brad Barton, Black Educators Association

stepped in when they noticed a male student was taking inappropriate photos of a female student.

Fells was called in when the student wouldn't hand over the phone with the photos on it.

"From all accounts we've heard, a student pushed the arm of the principal and he had his arm against the wall," said Barton.

"There were accounts there was an assault on the principal and he had to restrain (the student)."

More than 400 people attended a meeting held by the Black Educators Association on Monday to express their support for Fells, who is involved in a number of community activities with young people.

About 100 of those supporters kept vigil outside the school board office in Dartmouth on Wednesday night.

About 20 of them stuck it out in the rain until a decision was made on Thursday.

Ken Fells

Barton said he thinks the public outcry influenced the board's decision.

"I think everybody thinks it's a victory because very few times the board rejects a recommendation from the senior staff," he said.

"Unfortunately, they didn't follow through with the next step that he be reinstated as principal of Graham Creighton Junior High."

Board member Steve Brine said the decision was based on all the evidence they heard. He added Fells's new assignment is "yet to be determined."

New charge for suspect in fatal crash

jennifer.taplin@metronews.ca

CRIME The man accused of driving the car that killed a 15-year-old Dartmouth boy is facing another charge.

On Thursday, Halifax Regional Police charged Matthew Lesley Grimm, 18, with failing to stop at the scene of an accident.

David Alexander Julien, 15, was in the back seat of a white Honda Accord when it crashed into a pole on Cranberry Crescent in Dartmouth on Sunday night.

He died at the scene and his funeral is Friday.

Witnesses say the driver and another passenger took off on foot after the accident.

Two 18-year-old men turned themselves in the next day.

The other passenger, Thomas Glen Dixon, 18, was charged on Tuesday with breaching a court order, while Grimm was charged with dangerous operation of a motor vehicle, two counts of breach of an undertaking and one count of breach of probation. He was also ticketed on Thursday for driving without a licence, registration, insurance or a valid inspection sticker.

David Alexander Julien

At the time, police didn't charge Grimm with failing to remain at the scene because it was believed the charge only applied if the person drove away.

But police spokesman Const. Brian Palmeter said they laid the charge after further investigation into case law and a consultation with Crown attorneys.

"They felt the charge was applicable in this case where it's alleged the driver fled on foot," Palmeter said.

Grimm was to appear in court for a bail hearing on Thursday but instead was arraigned on the new charge and remanded back to the Burnside jail.

He will be back in a Dartmouth courtroom on May 26 for his bail hearing.

Matthew Lesley Grimm, 18, is escorted from Dartmouth provincial court on Tuesday. Grimm has had a new charge laid against him in the crash that killed 15-year-old David Alexander Julien.

Officials to try refloating sunken ship repair dock

SHIPYARD An attempt will be made at low tide Friday to refloat a ship repair dock that sank at the Halifax Shipyard on May 8.

Irving officials say they are assessing the results from pumping tests conducted earlier Thursday.

Spokesman Geoff Britt says the site is being monitored around the clock by shipyard crews and will continue to be watched throughout the refloating process.

Britt says the necessary safety and environmental precautions approved by Environment Canada, the coast guard and Transport Canada have all been taken.

An investigation into the cause of the sinking is ongoing.

Company officials can't say when repairs will be complete until they get a better look at equipment and infrastructure.

Forces closing Magazine Hill to detonate old projectile

BLAST The Canadian Forces are closing Magazine Hill for an hour Friday morning so they can blow up an "unstable" Second World War-era ordnance.

Mike Bonin, spokesman for Canadian Forces Halifax, said the five-inch projectile found at the ammunition depot in Bedford was a type of ammunition used by ship guns in the war.

"It dates back to when they had the magazine fire in the '40s," Bonin said.

"These items do unfortunately pop up from time to time."

Explosive-ordnance specialists will destroy it Friday at 9:30 a.m. and Magazine Hill will be closed for an hour in both directions from Akerley Boulevard to Dartmouth Road.

Hearing date set in Dartmouth murder

PHILIP CROUCHER
philip.croucher@metronews.ca

TRIAL A 55-year-old Dartmouth man charged with second-degree murder in the death of a woman in October had a date set for a preliminary hearing Thursday.

Clarence Michael McLeod made a brief appearance in Dartmouth provincial court, with the judge setting June 18 as a date for a preliminary hearing.

McLeod is charged in the murder of Roxanne Page, a 49-year-old woman found dead in a Roleika Drive residence in Dartmouth Oct. 17.

Police say a friend of the victim came to check up on her, and that's when she found Page dead, as well as an injured man at the scene.

Police were called and arrested the man and took him to hospital suffering from what they described as self-inflicted wounds.

The man injured at the scene was McLeod, police allege. He was released in October pending the results of an autopsy on Page, which police say show the death was a homicide.

Police aren't releasing Page's cause of death, but say she knew McLeod, who has multiple criminal convictions and has served time in prison before.

'Nobody wants to talk about it'

Province launches sex assault awareness campaign

JENNIFER TAPLIN
jennifer.taplin@metronews.ca

They're young, vulnerable and, unfortunately, silent.

Victims of sexual assault were on hand during an event at Province House Thursday. Denise Peterson-Rafuse, minister responsible for the Advisory Council on the Status of Women, read a proclamation from Premier Darrell Dexter recognizing Sexual Assault Awareness month.

Irene Smith, executive director of Avalon Sexual Assault Centre, said it's the first such event at Province House recognizing sexual violence.

"This event at Province House gives people permission to talk about sexual violence that so many people face."

Avalon Centre provides counselling as well as legal advice and health assistance to victims.

Peterson-Rafuse

Several agencies are supporting a new "ask" campaign to get people — especially youth to — "ask me if I want to."

The campaign is also aimed at empowering victims to ask about resources available to help them. Cards, bar stamps and posters will be distributed to places where young people socialize over the next few months.

"Nobody wants to talk about it and that's part of the problem," said Peterson-Rafuse.

Sexual assault statistics

- About 88 per cent of sexual assaults in Canada are not reported to police.
- In 65 per cent of cases reported to Halifax Regional Police in 2007, sexual assault victims knew the accused.

- In 2007, 30 per cent of reported sexual assaults in Nova Scotia resulted in a charge being laid, down from 56 per cent in 1993.

"Victims of sexual crimes are some of the most vulnerable and silent people in our society."

Supt. Don Spicer said Halifax Regional Police have a dedicated unit to investigate sexual assault, and half the files they investigate involve children.

RCMP Insp. Joanne Crampton said officers talk to teachers on how to spot victims, as well as educate kids on healthy relationships.

"If we're going to prevent these acts from occurring and hold those responsible accountable, we need to ensure victims are comfortable in coming forward to police," Crampton said.

Anne Macrae, executive director of the provincial Disabled Person's Commission, said disabled women face an even higher risk of sexual assault. Like many sexual assault victims, disabled women know their attacker but since in many cases it's their caretaker, they're less likely to come forward.

Blue Nose Marathon sets sail this weekend

MATTHEW WUEST

RECREATION The Blue Nose Marathon is expected to be bigger and better than ever — and that's nothing new.

As of Thursday afternoon, a record 8,338 had already registered for the annual event in Halifax and Dartmouth, giving it a sixth straight participation increase since the inaugural run in 2004.

Registrants for Sunday's events — the five- and 10-kilometre runs and the half and full marathons — have hit 5,957, while 2,431 have signed up for Saturday's youth run.

The organizing committee expects to hit its goal of 9,000 for the first time.

"We're kind of excited," said event co-chair Rod McCulloch. "Every year we've had an increase, but we've always been a little short of where we thought we were going to be. This year, we're a little bit over. The message is getting out. People are having fun."

This year's race route is not much different than last year's. The start/finish line is on Brunswick Street adjacent to the Town

McCulloch said very few adjustments were necessary on the route, which was changed last year because of a slew of night-marsh problems in 2008. Brunswick Street will be closed downtown for most of the day, while there will be limited access to side streets along the race route. The Macdonald Bridge will be closed Sunday morning.

The weather — which always seems to be touchy on race day — is looking like it will co-operate, with a mix of sun and cloud and a high of 22 C on the long-term forecast.

"The weather's going to be great," McCulloch said. "Everything's under control and we're ready to rock."

Hannah Munday laughs after inflating a personal flotation device at Sackville Landing on Thursday. Munday, and about a dozen others, took part in Ready, Set, Inflate — an event encouraging the use of life jackets and personal flotation devices.

Locals join effort to inflate life jacket stats

JON TATTRIE
for Metro Halifax

About a dozen Haligonians joined a North American effort to create a world record for the most life jackets inflated at once on Thursday.

To a cry of, "Ready, set, inflate," members of the Canadian Safe Boating Council, Coast Guard and other organizations triggered a range of personal flotation devices at Sackville Landing in Halifax.

Their numbers were rounded out by two mascots — a polar bear and a life jacket — and they joined groups across Canada, the United States and Puerto Rico.

Sandra Inglis with Transport Canada said they wanted to remind people of the dangers of boating without a life jacket.

Ten people have died already this year in Atlantic Canada and none wore a life jacket. Inglis said 80 per cent of boating fatalities involve people not wearing life jackets.

Cold shock is a fatal factor at this time of year as people gasp when they hit the freezing water on a sunny day, suck in a mouthful and drown, regardless of how close they are to shore or how good a swimmer they are.

"It's like if you're in the shower and all of a sudden the water changes to cold and you gasp," Inglis said. "It's the same reflex when you fall into the water."

Final figures weren't available on Thursday, but organizers said they'd be happy if it encouraged one person to wear a life jacket.

Charges may come in crash

COLLISION Cape Breton Regional Police says charges are pending after a collision between a motorbike and a car Wednesday night.

An officer on patrol in New Waterford tried to stop a motorbike that was being driven on one wheel, but police say the driver sped away.

A short time later, police received a call about an accident involving the same motorbike and a car.

Police say a 25-year-old man was thrown from the motorbike after striking a vehicle that was turning into a parking lot.

The man suffered a broken leg while the driver of the car was not hurt.

Police say charges are pending under the Motor Vehicle Act and it's possible criminal charges will be laid.

Majority back more foreign owners: Poll

The Harper government appears to be on safe ground in its stated desire to allow more foreign competition in Canada's telecommunications sector, a new poll suggests.

A Harris-Decima online survey of 1,003 Canadians found that where once many might have feared foreign ownership of the country's key industries, now a majority supports it — even in the sensitive telecommunications sector.

In a survey taken in late April, 63 per cent of respondents supported more global investment in domestic telecommunications.

Only 30 per cent said they feared foreign ownership would inhibit Canadian culture.

The survey suggests people believe Canadian culture is strengthened by opening the communications pipeline to all, rather than restricting access.

An overwhelming 88 per cent said the Internet was good for Canadian artists because it exposed their work to a larger audience.

Only 12 per cent felt the Internet was bad for Canadian culture because it allowed more access to foreign content.

"I think Canadians are saying the Internet and the new digital distribution tools are really going to let a million flowers bloom, including many, many Canadian flowers," said Bruce Anderson, senior consulting associate with Harris-Decima.

Scientists make cell from artificial DNA

In revolutionary research that may end up altering our definition of life, scientists have created the first synthetic cell powered by artificially created DNA.

The achievement caps 15 years of work by a large team of researchers, led by Craig Venter of Human Genome Project fame, who engineered a chromosome and inserted it into a bacterium to create a new living entity.

"This is the first self-replicating species that we've had on the planet whose parent is a computer," Venter told a teleconference presented Thursday by the journal Science, which published the work.

The cell, which contains more than a million DNA base pairs, or genetic letters — a mere speck compared with the six billion in human DNA — was created by writing genetic code on a computer, then combining a cocktail of chemicals to create a chromosome.

"We start with four bottles of chemicals and the digital code in the computer from DNA sequence," said Venter. "This is an important step we think both scientifically and philosophically."

"It certainly changed my views of the definitions of life and how life works."

Geneticist Stephen Scherer, a senior scientist at Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children, called the research an "impressive technical feat."

Experts warn of long-term strife in Thailand

BANGKOK As soldiers mopped up pockets of resistance and the government declared it was back in control, fears grew Thursday that the tentative quiet restored to Bangkok after a bloody crackdown on protests may just be a respite from violence and political polarization that could continue for years.

Leaders of the anti-government Red Shirt movement vowed a return as they were taken into custody.

"I think this is a new beginning for the Red Shirts," said Kevin Hewison, a Thailand expert at the University of North Carolina. "It will be a darker and grimmer time of struggle and less-focused activities. By no stretch of the imagination is the movement finished."

The Thai government declared Thursday it had mostly quelled 10 weeks of violent protests in the capital as buildings smoldered, troops rooted out die-hard holdouts.

Some residents cautiously attempted a return to normal life a day after a military operation cleared the main commercial district of thousands of demonstrators, leaving 15 dead and nearly 100 injured.

Troops roamed the city on foot and in Humvees and exchanged gunfire with scattered Red Shirt holdouts.

BP admits spill worse than previously thought

GULF OF MEXICO BP conceded Thursday that more oil than it estimated is gushing into the Gulf of Mexico as heavy crude washed into Louisiana's wetlands for the first time, feeding worries and uncertainty about the massive monthlong spill.

Several professors who have watched video of the leak have said they believe the amount spewing out is much higher than official estimates.

Swinger sentenced to prison

A college professor accused of organizing a swingers club and holding private orgies in China was sentenced to 3½ years in prison, officials said, in a case that touched off national debate about sexual freedom.

Ma Yaohai, 53, was convicted and sentenced on charges of group licentiousness for participating in group sex parties, said an official from the Qinhuai District Court in southeastern Nanjing. The official, who declined to give his name, refused to answer further questions.

Ma, along with 21 other people, was arrested and charged last year — the first time anyone has been charged under a 1997 law in a case that has snagged huge public interest with its titillating details. It also generated debate about sexual freedom in a nation trying to reshape its own modern morality. Ma's attorney Yao Yong'an said his client, who was the only one to plead innocent, plans to appeal the verdict.

"It's definitely not a fair case. It's not based on the law ... We can understand the reason behind it, but we can't accept it."

Attorney Yao Yong'an

"It's definitely not a fair case. It's not based on the law ... We can understand the reason behind it, but we can't accept it," he said.

Three of the other defendants were acquitted with no penalties because they turned themselves in, the official Xinhua News Agency reported, while the remaining 18 received jail sentences of up to 2½ years.

Ma's defiance seemed to strike a chord in an era of relative sexual freedom, where extramarital affairs and prostitution are common — drawing support from those who believe the Chinese government should stay out of the bedroom.

Girl in 'sexting' case sues school board

PENNSYLVANIA A school district that was at the centre of a highly publicized "sexting" case was sued Thursday by a teenager who claims her principal confiscated her cellphone, found nude images she had taken of herself and turned it over to prosecutors.

The principal of the Tunkhannock Area High School illegally searched the 17-year-old's phone in January 2009, even though she intended the racy photos to be "seen only herself and, perhaps, her long-time boyfriend," according to the federal lawsuit.

It says the principal gave the phone to George Skumanick Jr., at the time the Wyoming County district attorney, who threatened to file felony child pornography charges against the girl unless she took a class on sexual violence.

The district in rural northeastern Pennsylvania was at the centre of America's first criminal case involving sexting — the practice of sending explicit photos via text message — to reach a federal appeals court.

ART HEIST A thief stole five paintings valued at more than $100 million, including major works by Picasso and Matisse, in an overnight heist Thursday at a Paris modern art museum with a broken alarm system, officials said. The paintings disappeared early Thursday from the Paris Museum of Modern Art, across the Seine River from the Eiffel Tower in one of the French capital's most chic and tourist-frequented neighbourhoods. The museum's alarm system had been broken since March 30 in some rooms, Paris Mayor Bertrand Delanoë said in a statement.

Leave scandal to process

UrbanCompass

The morning after the big semi-reveal — the auditor general had turned over to the RCMP expense claims files on one current and four former MLAs, but he wouldn't say which ones to avoid compromising the criminal investigation — CBC Radio Information Morning's political panel weighed in.

The panelists — veteran freelance journalist Ralph Surrette and former newspaper editor and Tory cabinet minister Jane Purves — both have well-earned journalistic credentials for fighting political corruption. That may be why what struck me most about their comments was their undertone of unease at the seemingly insatiable media appetite for — and public obsession with — this scandal, to the detriment both of more important issues, and also of public faith in elected officials.

The reasons for their unease quickly became apparent.

Within hours, Kevin Gaudet, spokesperson for a self-appointed lynch mob — also sometimes known as the Canadian Taxpayers Federation — was telling a reporter our legislators should forget the niceties of due process, innocent until proven guilty and all that inconsequential stuff, and expel forthwith any member even suspected of finagling or fudging an expense from the legislature.

"Perhaps," he suggested — his tongue unfortunately not in his cheek but his foot firmly planted in his mouth — "that would raise the bar of integrity."

Indeed. In the same article — hopefully in response to a

"Thanks to lax legislation and less oversight, some (MLAs) found it too easy to confuse private benefit with public interest."

hypothetical question from the reporter and as a comment on tactics rather than ethics — Acadia University political science Prof. Ian Stewart mused on the likelihood that Independent MLA Trevor Zinck is the single still-sitting member of the legislature whose expenses the Mounties are now investigating.

If that's the case, Stewart argued, the other MLAs could easily bounce him from the seat to which he was duly elected as "a cost-free way of attempting to show they are on top of the integrity issue and they're responding to the public's outrage."

Fanning the outrage flames, Gaudet weighed in with the self-fulfilling suggestion the MLA expenses scandal "fuels speculation by the voting public, taxpayers, that too many politicians are a bunch of crooks and thieves."

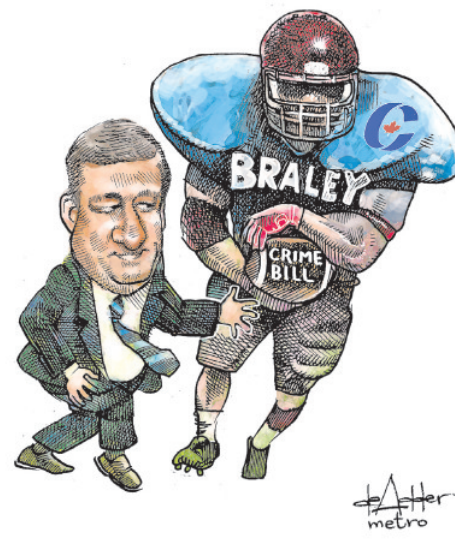

I've covered Nova Scotia politics for 40 years. I've met a few crooks and thieves. Most MLAs aren't. But they are human; thanks to lax legislation and less oversight, some found it too easy to confuse private benefit with public interest.

Outrage over the expenses scandal was a wake-up call; this winter's legislative reforms make the system more transparent and less susceptible to expense fiddling. Outrage worked.

But now it's time to let the criminal process work. And move on to other more serious — and expensive — political screw-ups. P3 schools, anyone.

We can't escape European crisis

ECONOMY If it's Europe that sneezes, why does Canada still catch a cold?

Canada's economy may be roaring now, but its longer-term prospects are being turned topsy-turvy by a localized credit crisis in Europe, economists say.

The end of month gross domestic product release is widely expected to show Canada enjoying an economic resurgence the rest of the industrialized world only dreams of, with the second consecutive quarter of five and five-plus percentage growth.

But markets hardly noticed. The attention was squarely fixated on Greece and other European problems Thursday as investors saw an increasingly risky future.

The disconnect reminded economists of the Asian financial crisis of a dozen years ago. Commodities fell and the loonie caught a downdraft that took it all the way down to the 62-cent level. But analysts don't believe the Greek crisis and the contagion effect will be as dramatic this time. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Google plans 'smart' TVs

Google Inc. believes it has come up with the technology to unite web surfing with channel surfing on televisions.

To reach the long-elusive goal, Google has joined forces with Sony Corp., Intel Corp. and Logitech International. The companies unveiled their much-anticipated plan for a "smart" TV on Thursday.

The TVs are expected to go on sale in the fall. Pricing wasn't announced.

Other companies have

Canadians' debts rising steadily

FINANCE Getting out of debt appears to be more difficult than many Canadian homeowners imagine.

Only seven per cent of 1,000 respondents to a Canadian online survey last month said they had paid down their debt over the past year by more than expected.

Another 19 per cent said they had reduced their debt — but by less than anticipated.

In contrast, 27 per cent of the respondents said their debt had increased over the past year and 17 per cent saw no change.

The survey was conducted April 16 to 23 for Manulife Bank, a subsidiary of Manulife Financial Corp.

The report focused on what could be described as middle-income, middle-aged homeowners — people aged 30 to 55 with at least $50,000 of household income.

Campbell's crazy for a cause

Runner trying to raise money for children's facility

MATTHEW WUEST
matthew.wuest@metronews.ca

Call Mark Campbell crazy. You won't be the first — or the last.

How crazy? Crazy like a guy who's planning to run a 276-kilometre stretch along the Cabot Trail — almost seven full marathons combined — in 36 hours without stopping next week.

Hard kilometres, too: Starting at the Gaelic College in Englishtown, up and down the steep mountains of Cape Breton Highlands National Park, all the way to Baddeck.

You can watch him train for it Saturday at the Blue Nose Marathon expo, where he'll spend 12 straight hours on a treadmill, and again Sunday, when he runs the 42.2-kilometre full marathon in Halifax and Dartmouth.

"There's the obvious reaction: 'You're nuts,'" Campbell concedes.

But that's the reaction Campbell figures he needs to raise money for Brigadoon Children's Camp, a recreation facility for kids with chronic illnesses being built near Kentville. He hopes the enormity of his undertaking will be met with generosity of equal proportion.

"You need something that can grab people and make them say, 'What inspired this guy to do this?'" Campbell explains. "That's what pushed me."

The 42-year-old has done some jaw-dropping things before.

He has volunteered for the Blue Nose for years, staying up all night to put up signs along the race route, only to run the full marathon on no sleep the next day.

He's done more than his share of Ironman triathlons and has seen every stretch of the Cabot Trail via an annual relay, even splitting the scenic route with Jody Isenor last year.

But doing it solo, with the exception of a support vehicle alongside him, is the most drastic thing he has ever attempted.

He is nervous about his "body holding together," but figures any pain he in-curs will be for the gain of sick kids for years to come.

"My epiphany was when I realized how everything comes easily to me," he says. "Here I am, out playing sports and doing all these fun things, and these kids get a really nasty diagnosis and don't get their chance to play. I just thought, 'What can I do to help?'"

He'd be crazy not to.

Sports in brief

NBA Mark Cuban is no stranger to bold statements, and the Dallas Mavericks owner has expressed his interest in acquiring soon-to-be free agent LeBron James. The outspoken billionaire, in an interview this week with CNNMoney.com, said "anybody" would be interested in James.

NFL Washington Redskins coach Mike Shanahan is taking a "wait-and-see" approach to reports receiver Santana Moss is linked to a Toronto doctor charged with smuggling and supplying human growth hormone. Shanahan said Thursday he will speak to Moss "at the right time" about the matter.

NBA A person familiar with the decision says the Philadelphia 76ers have agreed to terms with TNT analyst Doug Collins to become their new coach. The person spoke to The Associated Press on condition of anonymity because the announcement has not been made public.

UFC The UFC is coming to Toronto next week to make what it bills as a "major announcement in Canada." Co-owner Lorenzo Fertitta and president Dana White will be at Tuesday's news conference at the Rogers Centre.

After planned preparation, MacLennan ready to go

matthew.wuest@metronews.ca

RUNNING David MacLennan's participation in last year's Blue Nose Marathon was a last-minute decision. It was a good thing he didn't skip it because he was crowned champion for a fourth time and posted a near record result.

"I just had a feeling," said MacLennan, who signed up the week of the race. "I didn't really plan on doing it but I just felt I was in fairly good shape ... And the result pretty much says it all."

This time around, the 46-year-old Scotsburn, Pictou Co., native has been planning to race in the Blue Nose for months.

If a last-minute signup earned him a time of 2:36:05.9, less than a minute off the record pace he set at the inaugural Blue Nose in 2004 at the age of 40, will planned participation get him a new record Sunday?

"I'm not gonna say that, good golly," MacLennan said with a laugh. "I think I'm in good shape but you never know. It depends on the weather on race day. So many things in a marathon can come back and get you."

He expects a tough test from Kevin Tulloch, a 2:40 marathoner who currently lives in New Glasgow and trains with MacLennan occasionally but has never run the Blue Nose. Scott Clarke, a perennial top-five finisher from Summerside, P.E.I., will be another contender.

MacLennan, who is also a seven-time champion of New Glasgow's Johnny Miles Marathon, said he had "a good spring and I feel pretty good."

He typically sets a modest goal at the start of every 42.2-kilometre undertaking, and it won't be any different Sunday at 9 a.m. under the Town Clock.

"Any time I'm around 2:40, I'm happy," he said. "If it's better than that, fine."

Favre hints at return

Brett Favre says he still isn't sure what he's doing next season, but he may have given some indication after visiting with the Southern Miss baseball team. The Minnesota Vikings quarterback told the Golden Eagles on Thursday that if they can make it back to the College World Series, he will return for one more season in the NFL. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Habs smash shutout streak

(Flyers lead series 2-1)

Flyers 1 Canadiens 5

Michael Cammalleri and Tom Pyatt scored in the first period to end Michael Leighton's two-game shutout string as the Montreal Canadiens defeated the Flyers 5-1 in NHL Eastern Conference final action Thursday night.

Montreal's third line shone as Pyatt and Dominic Moore both scored and Maxim Lapierre had an assist, and the Canadiens served notice they won't fade away meekly after series-opening losses of 6-0 and 3-0 in Philadelphia.

Brian Gionta and Marc-Andre Bergeron also scored as the Canadiens ended the Flyers' six-game winning streak and handed Leighton his first loss in five post-season starts.

seventh goal in as many games since returning from a toe injury. Montreal outshot Philadelphia 38-26.

The Flyers lead the best-of-seven series 2-1 with Game 4 set for Saturday afternoon at the Bell Centre. Leighton saw his shutout run end when Cammalleri scored his 13th of the playoffs at 7:05 of the first period. "It was nice to get one,"

Cammalleri said. "We just tried to get the puck past their defence and go to the net and the puck jumped out to me."

His shutout streak covered 172:55, second-longest in Flyers history behind Brian Boucher's 184:45 in 2000. He had stopped 74 consecutive shots dating to a Milan Lucic goal in the first period of Game 7 of the last round against Boston.

Halak made sharp saves early and then had little work as the Canadiens used their speed to outthrust the dazed-looking Flyers, who committed numerous turnovers and spent much of the game standing around watching.

"Turnovers in any sport will kill you," Flyers coach Peter Laviolette said. "We've got to do a better job of fighting for the puck and keeping the puck."

For a third straight game, Montreal held a wide shot advantage in the first period (17-9), only this time, they scored twice.

P.K. Subban, who had three assists, drilled a shot off the end boards that Cammalleri banked in off Leighton for the Canadiens first goal of the series, and Cammalleri's 13th of the playoffs

Armstrong denies doping allegations

CYCLING Disgraced U.S. cyclist Floyd Landis revealed new cheating allegations in a series of messages to sponsors and officials, alleging that former teammate Lance Armstrong not only joined him in doping but taught others how to beat the system and paid an official to keep a failed test quiet.

With international cycling season in full swing, Landis admitted for the first time what had long been suspected — he was guilty of doping for several years before being stripped of his 2006 Tour de France title.

His fresh accusations, contained in e-mails sent last month, prompted Armstrong to hold an impromptu press conference Thursday at the Tour of California.

"If you said, 'Give me one word to sum this all up,' credibility," the seven-time Tour de France winner said. "Floyd lost his credibility a long time ago."

"We have nothing to hide. We have nothing to run from," said Armstrong, who later quit the race to go to a hospital for X-rays after crashing. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

IIHF says sorry

Boss calls Crosby's agent with apology

The president of the International Ice Hockey Federation has called Sidney Crosby's agent to apologize for the Olympic hero's inclusion in an IIHF story that criticized players who decline to take part in the world hockey championship.

Rene Fasel spoke with agent Pat Brisson of CAA Sports one day after the IIHF posted a story titled "Saying No to Your Country" on its website. The story, written by IIHF communications director Szymon Szemberg, said players who chose not to participate were turning "their backs not only on the team and its fans but also to the system which developed them and made them rich and famous."

It named Crosby and other players directly.

"I sincerely believe that Rene Fasel was sorry for the inappropriate comments made towards Sidney and the other players," Brisson told The Canadian Press.

Hockey Canada president Bob Nicholson discussed the issue with Fasel on Thursday, calling it a "very positive meeting."

He said Fasel apologized for "the tone" of the article and the way it referred to Crosby.

Nicholson also spoke to NHL commissioner Gary Bettman, who was among those irked by the tone of the story.

"We thought the IIHF comments were inappropriate and showed a lack of respect for our game and our players," Bettman said in a statement.

Nicholson was also offended.

"We're proud of who is putting on our jersey. ... We're really proud of what we've done over the last number of years at world championships."

On Wednesday, Szemberg told The Canadian Press that both Fasel and general secretary Horst Lichtner knew about the article before it was published. As of Thursday, it remained active on the website.

Nicholson praised Crosby for his commitment to the national team and indicated that he never expected the star forward to make the trip to Germany.

Russia knocks Canada out of contention

IIHF

Russia 5 Canada 2

HOCKEY A forgettable IIHF World Hockey Championship for Canada ended with a crushing 5-2 quarter-final loss to Russia Thursday.

It's the third straight year Russia ended Canada's gold-medal hopes at the tournament and this loss came a long way from the final. A young Canadian squad dropped four of its final five games and failed to get past the quarter-finals for the first time since 2002.

"You want to win and it's disappointing when you don't," said forward Steven Stamkos.

The semifinals

- Philip Gogulla scored midway through the second period to lead the Germans to a 1-0 win over Switzerland in a quarter-final contest Thursday.
- With the win, Germany faces Russia in the semifinals.
- The other semifinal contest Saturday will pit Sweden against the Czech Republic.

"It's a bitter taste."

The Canadians entered as heavy underdogs to a powerhouse Russian team that featured 14 players who competed at the Vancouver Olympics. Corey Perry was the lone gold-medal winner from those Games to make the trip to Germany for Canada.

Evgeni Malkin, with two, Maxim Afinogenov, Pavel Datsyuk and Sergei Fedorov — all Olympians — scored goals for Russia (7-0), which extended its world championship winning streak to 26 games.

John Tavares and Matt Duchene replied for Canada (3-4).

Despite the gap in skill and experience, the hard-fought game wasn't as lopsided as the score suggested. "I don't think it was an easy game for anybody," said Fedorov.

It often takes a vacation to gain a little perspective on everyday problems.

And for Carrie Bradshaw — who high-tails it out of town with her three best friends in Sex and the City 2 for an ultra luxe getaway to Abu Dhabi — the time away is spent reflecting on her recent nuptials to Mr. Big.

"There was a wedding, and now there has to be a marriage," explains Sarah Jessica Parker, who portrays the iconic fashionista.

"In an era where women are really unkind to one another, and call each other horrible names, and there's vernacular that our ears have adapted to, which I find really objectionable, I really really love how these women love each other. How decent and honorable they are to one another," she says.

"I love that they were never made to be friends. Their DNA is so radically different from one to the next, and they have found this incomparable friendship that is truly inspiring to me, and it changes the way I think about my friendships constantly."

Shrek has last laugh

Shrek Forever After

Stars: Mike Myers, Cameron Diaz,

Metro World News

Whether that new title is a promise or a simple marketing ploy, the fourth Shrek film at least does a good job of putting a positive punctuation mark on a series that's seen a rapid decline in quality over the course of the previous three instalments.

The latest — and supposedly last — makes a valiant effort of recapturing the tone and spirit of the original Shrek, with more wise-acre takes on fairy tale tropes and fewer obnoxious pop culture references.

Tossing on a loose-fitting It's a Wonderful Life coat, the film picks up with Shrek (Mike Myers), Fiona (Cameron Diaz) and company enjoying their "happily ever after," although the ogre himself isn't so happy, longing for the days where villagers ran from him in fear instead of gawking from tour buses.

He signs a foolish deal with Rumpelstiltskin (voiced by DreamWorks story head Walt Dohrn), a pint-sized power-mad ginger who at one point had the keys to the kingdom in his grasp before Shrek went and ruined his plans by rescuing Fiona.

Shrek is then plunged into a world where Rumpelstiltskin is king, he's still a swamp-dwelling menace and none of his friends know him. The setup and plot are familiar and predictable, but one thing the Rumpelstiltskin has a showdown with everyone's favourite ogre in Shrek Forever After.

Shrek team does well — when they're firing on all cylinders — is make the familiar and predictable fun and exciting nonetheless.

The animation is of course pristine, with some particularly thrilling battle and chase sequences tossed in.

While Shrek frets through his existential crisis, the supporting cast provides some of the best laughs, as usual, with some new voices (Jon Hamm and Jane Lynch as members of the ogre resistance) along with the old. Eddie Murphy's Donkey and Antonio Banderas' Puss in Boots wage a fierce battle over who gets to the steal the show, but Banderas has the obvious edge, what with the Puss in Boots movie in development next.

Kites brings wild excess of Bollywood

Kites

Director: Anurag Basu

Stars: Hrithik Roshan, Barbara Mori

Classification: STC

ADAM NAYMAN
for Metro Canada

REVIEW Kites has been conceived and executed as a hybrid of the world's two largest industrial cinemas, filtering over-amped Bollywood melodrama through glossy Hollywood aesthetics.

And if that's not high-concept enough for you, the epically scaled film has also been "remixed" by producer Brett Ratner into a 90-minute version for the short-attention span crowd.

Certainly, the 130-minute cut of Kites could stand some trimming, but part of the film's charm is bound up in its wild excess.

The opening scenes glide along on the larger-than-life charm of star Hrithik Roshan as Jay, a Hindi hustler waylaid in Las Vegas whose cash-for-marriage scam gets complicated twice over.

Problem No. 1: He falls in love with the gorgeous Spanish girl (Barbara Mori) who is paying him to get a green card; Problem No. 2: When he pursues her, he discovers she's engaged to be married to the son of a local crime boss, whose daughter has her own designs on him.

It's an amusingly humid quadrangle, but eventually, the film settles into a standard chase-movie mode, with Roshan and Mori recast as the post-globalization equivalents of Bonnie and Clyde, fleeing (with the top down) across the dustier parts of the United States.

In general Saturday Night Live movies aren't very good.

Sure, there are exceptions like The Blues Brothers, but for the most part the sketch-to-screen adaptations go a little bit more like Coneheads.

It's been a decade since Lorne Michaels last ushered one of his popular sketches into movie theaters and fortunately it's been worth the wait. MacGruber may have started as a 90-second joke, but now it's a fully realized and gleefully offensive spoof/homage of delightfully dumb action movies. dian cameos, or Xeroxed TV gags here. Had the original SNL sketches not existed, MacGruber could stand on its own as a damn entertaining comedy.

If you're not familiar with Will Forte's MacGruber, he's a special agent in the DIY MacGyver mold. Of course, he's not very good and tends to blow things up. In the film he's given a nemesis who is one typo away from being unfit to print, Dieter Von Cunth (Val Kilmer). The movie opens with Cunth stealing a missile and soon MacGruber comes out of retirement to stop him alongside a potential love interest (Kristen Wiig) and a young military hotshot (Ryan Phillippe).

It's a plot you've seen many times before, but exaggerated just enough to be hilarious.

Of course, this isn't just some film school satire. It's also filled with enough potty mouth language, bathroom humor, and filthy sight gags to be a solid R-rated comedy. Sure, it doesn't demand much brainpower, but sometimes dumb laughs are enough.

MacGruber shouldn't have been this good. Hopefully it won't be unfairly dismissed as a lazy SNL re-tread, because it's unlikely that a funnier flick will be released this summer.

The kids are all right

Babies

Director: Thomas Balmes

IAN GORMEY
for Metro Canada

REVIEW Babies is a classic example of a film that says more by doing less. Of course, just what it says is up for debate.

French director Thomas Balmes uses a deceptively simple concept, filming four babies in four different countries to explore the different ways we raise children across the world, from birth to first steps. There's no narration, interviews, inter or subtitles. Just 79 minutes of babies sleeping, crying, crawling, walking, pooping and, in one case, escaping the machinations of a curious goat.

Even the parents are shot mostly from the neck down, their dialogue muffled by ambient sound in Balmes's Charlie Brown world.

But putting the focus firmly on the kids ensures that nothing is sugarcoated or glossed over and the long shots don't cut away when the baby starts to bawl. You're right there with mom and dad, just wishing that the thing would shut up.

Balmes says that he has no agenda; he's not saying there's any one way to rear kids. But the two extremes in environment and culture his cast of titular characters are raised in — San Francisco and Tokyo, on one side, and tiny villages in Namibia and Mongolia on the other — reveals that he's got some serious reservations about the over-scheduled, over-stimulated way of raise or children. But the lack of narration allows viewers to take what they want from this film.

Two hours of cute babies? You got it. Or, if you'd rather, a political treatise on the divergent values of the First and developing worlds.

Band of Horses retreat

BRYAN BORZYKOWSKI
for Metro Canada

If you've ever wondered where Band of Horses' laid back twangy sound comes from, here's your answer — a cottage near Bob Dylan's boyhood home.

Ben Bridwell, the band's lead singer, recorded the group's latest disc, Infinite Arms, near Hibbing, Minn. — less than two hours from the Ontario border. He didn't pick that place to channel Dylan, though, he just wanted to be alone. "I need to know that people can't hear me," he says. "It's embarrassing when I'm screaming my balls off."

That's not the only secluded spot Bridwell has written in — "I've done it in a cabin on a lake, a caboose on an ocean and a cabin in the mountains," he says.

Wherever he writes it seems to be working. The group shot to indie fame in 2007 with the stunning disc Cease To Begin and the new one picks up where that one left off.

For the most part, Infinite Arms sounds a lot like past efforts. Bridwell's smooth, high-pitched vocals, rich Beach Boys-ish harmonies and folk pop sensibility permeates much of the disc.

"I'm limited in my musical ability," he says. "I started this game late, so it's not hard for me to sound like me."

But there are differences. There's more country twang, the rock songs are louder, and each track is more polished. That could have something to do with the band's new players. The group has grown from a trio to a five-piece over the last couple of years.

"These guys are bringing stuff to table I wouldn't write," says Bridwell.

It's not just the songwriters that are new, however. For the first time, the band financed and produced this record themselves. Going the DIY route gave the band more freedom. It also allowed them to sell their disc to the highest bidder, which turned out to be Fat

After shooting to fame with 2007's album, Cease To Begin, indie act Band of Horses is back with a new release, Infinite Arms.

Possum records, a subsidiary of major label Sony Music. "There was really no doubt in my mind," he says. "People have been knocking at the door for a while so I had a good feeling we'd get paid back."

The truth about Bubbles, Toast

SoundCheck

Alan Cross

metronews.ca/soundcheck

Last week I dipped into my mail bag to mark hitting the 100 column milestone for Metro. Well, the questions keep coming.

Q Is it true that Bubbles from the Trailer Park Boys used to be in a band?
— John, Calgary

A He was in a Pictou, N.S., band called Sandbox, which released a pretty good record called Bionic in 1996. Propelled by a single called Curious, the album won three East Coast Music Awards and was nominated for a Juno before breaking up.

Q What's that spoken word song (done in a Cockney accent) from the '70s about the glories of making toast?
— Owen, Toronto

A In 1978, a group called Street Band recorded a single called Hold On which featured a track called Toast on the B-side. The song had been concocted during a gig where they needed to stretch for time. When the moment came to record a single, the band decided to include it as a joke. However, because Britain was in the midst of a bakers' strike when it came out, several BBC DJs decided that Toast was a better bet than Hold On. Street Band was forever branded a novelty group and soon broke up.

Bachelorette wants to focus on love

Ali Fedotowsky ditched The Bachelor last season for her job.

The smiley former Facebook advertising account manager now has a new gig as The Bachelorette. Fedotowsky is the latest leading lady in a long line of single men and woman — 20, to be exact — selected to sift through a stack of suitors in hopes of finding the perfect match on the interconnect-

Premieres Monday

ing long-running ABC reality dating franchise. Fedotowsky previously chose her career over

Jake Pavelka, who was dumped by Jillian Harris on the fifth edition of The Bachelorette. In a recent interview, the 25-year-old Clark University graduate reminisced about Pavelka, discussed her most athletic suitors and recalled when a boyfriend cheated on her — while she was sleeping.

Q Why did you want to do The Bachelorette after what happened last season with Jake?

A My decision to choose my job over Jake last season was really hard. I think it worked out for the best because he is now in love and has his relationship, and he's engaged and happy, and I'm happy, and that's really all that matters. This time, I decided I wanted to do what's best for me, and that's putting love first.

Q Have you seen or spoken with Jake since the show? Do you still have feelings for him?

A I haven't seen Jake since the show. I wanted to watch him on Dancing With the Stars, because I heard he's really great. I don't have those kind of feelings. I will always care for him as a friend. He's a great guy and a great person, but I've definitely moved on.

Q How do you feel about infidelity? Have you ever had a boyfriend cheat on you?

A I've had a boyfriend cheat on me — in a bad way — while I was sleeping in another room. It was in another room of my house. It's wrong. It's unforgivable. Do I necessarily think once a cheater always a cheater? No, I don't think that, but I think once you've done it once in a relationship, it's very hard to recover in that relationship.

Law student to play a lawyer

NEW SERIES Jerry O'Connell hopes to get school credit for his new acting gig.

He'll play a lawyer on the new CBS television show The Defenders this fall alongside Jim Belushi. In real life, he recently finished his first year at Southwestern Law School in Los Angeles.

CBS describes The Defenders as a comedic drama about two colourful Las Vegas defence attorneys.

The 36-year-old O'Connell says The Defenders is a little more complicated than the basics he learned in his first year of law school but he was able to recognize some tidbits.

Law school is on hold while O'Connell plays a lawyer on TV. But he says he plans to get his degree.

O'Connell previously starred in the TV series Crossing Jordan and Carpoolers.

His movie credits include Stand by Me and Jerry Maguire.

Lutz shows off his Calvins

MITZI MILLER
Metro World News

During a New York store appearance, the Twilight actor and Calvin Klein underwear poster boy Kellan Lutz talks vampires and briefs with Metro.

Q Before you began acting, you were a model. What about Calvin Klein Underwear made you want to go back to modeling again?

A I got into modeling when I was in a financial crisis. It was a great way to make money. I never thought I was pretty by any means. But it was great to be a part of that world. And the pinnacle of that world is to be on a billboard. I grew up wearing Calvin Klein. It's one of those things. As a model, I dreamt of being Marky Mark, being on a billboard and selling that company.

Q Speaking of Marky-Mark, were you nervous about comparisons when shooting this campaign?

A I was thrilled. I loved Marky-Mark's campaign. And by no means was I trying to fill his britches or, uh, boxer-briefs. I was just stepping into them and doing my best to follow in his footsteps. And that's all I can hope and pray for.

Twilight star Kellan Lutz went back to his modelling roots for the new Calvin Klein underwear campaign.

Q Any surprises in store for the next Twilight movie, Eclipse?

A Emmett's character and story grow immensely in Eclipse. You see the battle between the newborns and you see the werewolves coming along. It's a big fighting movie and that's Emmett's strength. So there's the fighting and the big brother role, which is nice.

Q Since you were already in production, did you really have to prepare physically for this Calvin Klein campaign?

A Well I did. You know Emmett, my character, is more of the big guy. So I don't need the washboard abs, just the size. So I did a lot of push-ups and tons of protein. But for Calvin Klein, it's underwear. So I called up my buddy Rich McDonald who's a personal trainer friend of mine. He put me on a great diet that took out the candy (which I love) and the carbs past 4 o'clock. ... So I started training with him and he got me into the shape that I need to be for the campaign.

Q So ... boxers or briefs?

A Boxer-briefs! And I love the blue trimmed ones. The blue ones bring out my eyes. (laughs). I didn't come up with that. I was on the street and I bent over to pick up my bag out the car and this girl yelled out, you have the blue ones on and your eyes are blue. And I was like, 'oh yeah, they do bring out my eyes!'

Actress Michelle Forbes says she would love to reprise her role as the sinister maenad Maryann in the third season of True Blood. There's just one problem.

"Don't know how you come back with a big hole in your chest and no heart," laughs Forbes, while in Canada to promote the DVD release of True Blood's second season.

"I know it's True Blood and all. But I think Maryann has gone to maenad heaven."

Not that it wasn't a good run. Forbes says she loved every minute of working on the Emmy-winning southern vampire series.

"It was awesome. You never knew where the story was going," she says.

"Episode to episode, the show went from being an old fashioned love story, to classic horror, to a farcical comedy. At the end, it was like a Pi-randello play. It was so absurd."

Michelle Forbes

Though she's out of the TV vampire business, Forbes isn't hurting for work. Still best known as Ensign Ro from Star Trek: The Next Generation, Forbes remains one of the busiest actresses in the business.

Her credits over the last two decades include regular roles on Homicide, 24, Battlestar Galactica, and In Treatment. Add to that guest appearances on everything from Seinfeld to Lost, and keeping them straight can get tricky at times.

"Lost? I have no fking idea how I got that. I was in Germany and had to fly to Hawaii through England. It was like four times zones. I really can't remember much about it."

Though she has no "cunning career plan", Forbes admits she often gets cast as no-nonsense authority figures.

"At one point I had to leave the country (U.S.) and go to the UK just to play a housewife," she says.

Still, it's unlikely she'll ever get a role quite like True Blood's Maryann — whose farewell scene remains memorable ... to say the least.

True Blood, The Complete Second Season, will be released on DVD and Blu-Ray on Tuesday.

Groff happy for second chance to jump in Glee

IAN JOHNSTON
for Metro Canada

According to Jonathan Groff, fans of TV's Glee seem "okay" with his character Jesse St. James, a hated Glee club rival and romantic interloper.

"I haven't been spit on yet," laughs Groff. "And I got to say — I don't see Jesse as a bad guy. I think maybe Rachel (Lea Michele) has found a match in Jesse. But that's just me."

Of course, it helps that Groff's on-screen paramour is also his long time best friend. Groff and Michele worked the Broadway stage together years ago in a production of Spring Awakening.

"It was my first big break. And to be working with my best friend now doesn't seem like work at all."

It wasn't a complete coincidence that they would end up on the same TV show. It was Groff who first introduced

Michele to Glee creator Ryan Murphy. And when Murphy first mentioned he was working on a new show called Glee, he already had Groff in mind for a part.

Problem was Groff was initially tied up with another series pilot. But when that failed to catch on, Glee beckoned.

"A role was written specifically for me for the back nine episodes," says Groff, whose late arrival has given him a unique perspective on the series' rapid, overwhelming success.

"I saw Glee explode from my TV at home. Then I got dropped into the hurricane."

So far, Groff counts his duet with Michele on Lionel Richie's Hello as a show favorite. And his toughest musical moment? AC/DC's Highway To Hell.

"I'm a singer before a dancer. Dancing is something that doesn't ever come easily."

Glee's Jonathan Groff

As for Jesse St. James' future on the series, it's up in the air. Though Glee was renewed for another season a long time ago (and was recently awarded the coveted time slot after next year's Super Bowl), Groff isn't sure what his role might be.

"Details for my involvement haven't been worked out yet," he says. "But I'd love to see Rachel and Jesse end up together."

Glee airs Tuesdays at 9 p.m. on Global.

Lost in transportation

THIS IS ONE TRIP SHE WISHED SHE HADN'T DROPPED A judge issued a warrant Thursday for Lindsay Lohan's arrest after the actress missed a mandatory hearing. Bail was set at $100,000.

The 23-year-old actress was due in court for a progress report on her probation stemming from two arrests in 2007. Her attorney, Shawn Chapman Holley, said Lohan's passport was stolen while she was at the Cannes Film Festival and was unable to return to Los Angeles in time for Thursday's hearing.

"She did, in fact, have airline tickets," Holley told the judge. "From our standpoint, there is a valid reason for her not being here today."

Holley said Lohan would be back in the United States by Friday evening. Superior Court Judge Marsha Revel wasn't satisfied, saying the star has a history of missing scheduled appointments.

"If she wanted to be here, it looks to the court that she could have been here," Revel said.

The judge revoked Lohan's probation, issued the arrest warrant and imposed several conditions should Lohan make bail. She will be prohibited from drinking any alcohol, required to wear an alcohol-monitoring bracelet and submit to random weekly drug testing.

Lohan could be arrested at the airport when she returns, Los Angeles County Sheriff's spokesman Steve Whitmore said Thursday outside the courthouse.

Lohan has been on probation since August 2007 after pleading guilty to misdeemeanor drug charges and no contest to three driving charges. The plea came after a pair of high-profile arrests earlier that year.

Despite spending 84 minutes in jail and performing mandatory service at the county morgue, Lohan has struggled repeatedly with the terms of her sentence.

OR WAS IT SHE LOVES KISSING KATE? Courtney Love has hinted for years that she had a lesbian fling with a supermodel, and she's now revealed that it was Kate Moss.

"It was Kate Moss. She doesn't care," Love tells Hot Press magazine.

"Kate wasn't doing a lot of drugs. It was just a thing that happened in Milan in the '90s. It happened and it

Steakhouse Salad

INGREDIENTS:

Steak:
4 red peppers
300 g trimmed filet mignon
1/2 tsp salt
1/2 tsp pepper
1 garlic clove
500 g green beans, trimmed

SALAD AND DRESSING:

3 tbsp balsamic vinegar
2 tsp extra-virgin olive oil
1 garlic clove
2 tbsp minced shallot
8 cups mesclun
6 tomatoes, cut into wedges

METHOD:

1 Preheat broiler. Put red peppers on broiler pan. Cook until skins are blistered and blackened, 10 minutes, turning frequently. Put in paper bag, seal tightly, and let steam 10 minutes. Peel away blackened skins from peppers, seed, and cut into chunks.

2 Meanwhile, lay filet flat on cutting board and slit lengthwise three-quarters of the way through. Open and press flat. Sprinkle with half the salt and pepper. Halve 1 garlic clove and rub over beef. Broil beef until done to taste, 3 minutes on each side for medium. Thinly slice.

3 Cook beans in boiling water until crisp-tender, 5 minutes. Drain; rinse immediately with cold water.

4 Mince remaining garlic clove. Whisk vinegar, oil, garlic, shallot, and remaining salt and pepper in small bowl. Divide mesclun among plates and arrange steak, red peppers, beans, and tomatoes on top. Drizzle with dressing.
